

IS YESHUA GOD?
How to explain Yeshua to a Jewish person

My family and I have been watching Mark Biltz for over ten years, I am 20 years old and I am having a hay day with all the mysteries of the Torah!

Recently I became friends with a young Jewish man. He is not fully religious; however, he celebrates some of the feasts. We were having a conversation about Rosh Hashanah and Yom Kippur when I mentioned Yeshua. He stated that he does not believe Yeshua is God. I am completely stumped at how to express my views on the subject.

How do I explain why I believe Yeshua is God? He believes Yeshua was just another rabbi. How do you distinguish between other Yeshua-like figures such as Joseph and Moses and with Yeshua himself?

Thank you for your help! I look forward to digging deeper into this subject!

Thanks,
Amber

Dear Amber,

Great question!

Since you have become friends this becomes important because of the relationship.

Rather than jumping on the question of why you believe Yeshua is "God," begin with an honest inquiry as to why he does not believe that. Is it because of what he has been taught, or from his own personal study?

Then on your part, you have to ask yourself the same question. Do not let this become a "I am right/you are wrong" scenario, but let it be a journey you might discover together.

I can give you Scripture from the Tanakh revealing it, but it all depends on perspective.

So keep me informed how it goes!
